

Trade Finance Options Comparison

Senatus Group comparison sheet

- Working-capital facilities help when export growth strains inventory and receivables timing.
- Credit insurance becomes valuable when customer concentration or foreign payment risk is material.
- Purchase-order or transaction-specific financing can bridge growth when demand arrives faster than cash.
- Government-backed support can improve lender confidence and facility structure for eligible exporters.
- The best financing path is the one that matches the trade cycle, not just the cheapest headline rate.
